—Several youthful belligerents of this village attracted the attention of the officers of the law, last Wednesday, when one of them came out with a sore head and a bloody face, the result of a collision with a large stone hurled at him by another one. The boy who received the injury was Linneus M. Crosman. On his father's complaint an action was commenced against Simon Madigan, but the interested parties coming to an agreement, the case was discontinued without trial.
